V. Gazebo Acceptance

Committee Member Nevois said that Dieterich Bank is allowing the new "Welcome to the Bud" sign to be placed on their property at a forty-five-degree angle at the four-way stop. The Cameron Nevois Foundation is paying for all of that. Roeslein estimates that it should be finished in a week. Stuart Langrehr from Dieterich Bank said the bank no longer wants the gazebo and is donating it to the city. Nevois suggested moving it to the community garden area of the park. There are some shingles which need to be repaired, which will need to come out of the parks budget. Nevois will have the gazebo dismantled and rebuild it, at no cost to the city. Roeslein wants to donate the eagle that they made for the parade, to the city. Nevois suggested placing the eagle at the square, near the welcome sign.

Recommendation made by Committee Chairman Donjon, seconded by Committee Member Mueller, to authorize approval to accept the donation of the gazebo from Dieterich Bank and to allow Rodney Nevois to move it to the community garden, at no cost to the city. Carried
