IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS

In some specific cases, the City Council can allow an individual to not follow certain regulations under the Red Bud Zoning Code if the individual can show that the strict application of those regulations would cause great practical difficulties or a particular hardship. The only cases in which a variation can be allowed are from lot size and bulk (i.e. setback) restrictions. The standards that the Council must follow in order to issue such a variation, are listed in the Zoning Code under Section 40-9-2. The applicant must be prepared to prove that the request for a variation meets the requirements as outlined in that section.

Upon submission of this application, the Planning Commission will schedule a public hearing. You will be notified by first class mail of the date and time of the hearing. A notice will also be published. You or a representative may be required to testify and present evidence at that hearing. The members of the Planning Commission may question you and require other testimony. In addition, any interested party may testify either in favor of or against your request. Upon completion of the hearing, the Planning Commission will forward a recommendation to the City Council, who then consider your request in conjunction with the Planning Commission's recommendation and findings. If the City Council votes to grant a variation, they will pass an ordinance at their next meeting which will officially enact the variation.
